OVER THE LINE.

THE NEWEST LETTER OF A CHRONIC RAMBLER. To the Editor of the Morristown Gazette:

THE NEWEST LETTER OF A CHRONIC RAMBLER.

Drifting along the highway of life there are many things occurring that serve to vary the monotony for a time, and among these and foremost, rides rampant the ever perplexing political question, which calls into imposing array the two great factions which have gone into training now for the great presidential contest of 1884.

THE NEWEST LETTER OF A CHRONIC RAMBLER.

The immortal poet's "to be," according to the eternal fitness of things, is in order for discussion just now—while the "not to be," like the hand-writing on the wall, remain an untranslated problem until after the election.

THE NEWEST LETTER OF A CHRONIC RAMBLER.

But as we are running ahead of the times a little, in this particular, we will take our bearing nearer home, or, as you would more properly term it, "get into a localizing frame of mind."

THE NEWEST LETTER OF A CHRONIC RAMBLER.

The good, old-fashioned custom of hand-shaking, is being strictly observed among candidates now. Their eagerness to know—"If you are well," and the hearty hand-shake, shows unmistakable signs of something behind the bush. All of them want to serve the good people, but alas! how many towering castles in the air will be demolished when the ballot-box lays bare its secrets.

THE NEWEST LETTER OF A CHRONIC RAMBLER.

It's a pity there are not offices enough for all. If such was the case, would you object to taking one where the burden was light and the pay liberal?

THE NEWEST LETTER OF A CHRONIC RAMBLER.

On our wanderings through East Tennessee, we find the farmers all busy trying to make up for lost time occasioned by the late spring and bad weather. As a general thing the wheat crop looks promising.

THE NEWEST LETTER OF A CHRONIC RAMBLER.

Farmers are beginning to find that there is virtue in the use of fertilizer, and many are using it with success.

THE NEWEST LETTER OF A CHRONIC RAMBLER.

A little boom in the way of building has struck the old town of Greeneville—a woolen factory, a large warehouse and an opera hall are going up, and as there is always room for more, we hope the magnitude of the boom will be increased.

THE NEWEST LETTER OF A CHRONIC RAMBLER.

All along the line of road from Bristol to Knoxville, there is room for improvement. The soil offers an ample reward for labor expended, facilities for transportation are unlimited, and all we lack is energy and enterprise. Where can be found a more healthful climate?

THE NEWEST LETTER OF A CHRONIC RAMBLER.

And where is there a more inviting prospect to those who are wanting homes than that offered among the hills and valleys of East Tennessee? Our educational advantages are not to be excelled, churches of every denomination are found all over the country, and yet with all these advantages, broad acres of land go every year untouched by the plow, and yield nothing for want of industry.

THE NEWEST LETTER OF A CHRONIC RAMBLER.

And new homes are built by unyielding perseverance, and capital and labor combine for general improvement, then will East Tennessee become one vast garden spot, blooming and blossoming like the rose.

THE NEWEST LETTER OF A CHRONIC RAMBLER.

Society at Cleveland, Ohio, is scandalized by the announcement of the separation from each other of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mussey.

THE NEWEST LETTER OF A CHRONIC RAMBLER.

The lady is the daughter of ex-Gov. Foster. Mussey was once private secretary to the Governor. The exact cause of the separation is unknown, but it is conjectured to be the somewhat irregular life of the husband.

THE NEWEST LETTER OF A CHRONIC RAMBLER.

Letter from a School Boy. FRED. GREGG TELLS SOMETHING ABOUT CAYUGA LAKE MILITARY ACADEMY.

THE NEWEST LETTER OF A CHRONIC RAMBLER.

AURORA, N. Y., April 24. To the Editor of The Morristown Gazette:

THE NEWEST LETTER OF A CHRONIC RAMBLER.

I suppose you will be rather surprised to get a letter from me, but I thought that perhaps I might contribute something of interest to the younger readers of THE GAZETTE in a brief description of the New York State Military Academy, at this place.

THE NEWEST LETTER OF A CHRONIC RAMBLER.

It is a model of the West Point school and is situated on Cayuga lake, which is very near the center of the State. I will begin by giving the order of the day:

THE NEWEST LETTER OF A CHRONIC RAMBLER.

7:00 o'clock, a. m., bugle reveille; 7:30, bell prayers; 7:30, bell, breakfast; 8, salute—grand rounds; 8:15, bugle, inspection of quarters; 8:30, bugle, general inspection; 9, bell, school session; 10:20, bugle, drill, (manual of arms); 11, school session; 12, salute; 12:15, p. m., bell, dinner; 1, bugle, artillery drill; 1:45, bell, school session; 3:30, bell, report session; 4, drums, Adjutant's call; 4:30, drums, off premises; 5, bugle, skirmish drill; 5:45, bugle, get ready for supper; 6, bell, supper; 6:30, bell, evening prayers; 8:15, bell, gymnastics; 8:45, sword exercise for officers; 9, drums, tattoo, get ready for bed; 9:15, taps, drums, lights out.

THE NEWEST LETTER OF A CHRONIC RAMBLER.

There are guards stationed in each hall of the buildings during the winter, but out side during warm weather. This part of our duty is the most onerous of all, as it is not at all pleasant to be dragged out of bed to stand guard in the wet on a rainy night. This guard is of little use, except in preventing the boys from slipping out on pleasant nights and going down to "Daykins" for a "high old time." Of course this preventive does not always work. The principal of this school, Maj. Flint, is a graduate of West Point. He was also in active service during the late war. He is a strict disciplinarian and thoroughly understands his duty and the management of the boys, having been (as we think) one of them himself. I am sorry I can not give my young associates a fuller description of this school and my present surroundings, but I must close here as the bugle has just sounded.

THE NEWEST LETTER OF A CHRONIC RAMBLER.

Yours respectfully, FRED. H. GREGG.

THE NEWEST LETTER OF A CHRONIC RAMBLER.

Godey's Lady's Book for May has for its frontispiece a charming picture entitled "Chums." Miss Reeves' story, "The Nut-Brown Maid," proceeds this month with growing interest. "Tann" progresses in a spirited manner, and is winning many well deserved compliments from the press. "My Experience as an Earthly Bearded," is a laughable sketch, well calculated to divert one by the simple presentation of the funny side of things. The remainder of the book is filled up with the usual quota of fine engravings and colored plates, music and varied designs besides poems and stories.

THE NEWEST LETTER OF A CHRONIC RAMBLER.

FRANK LESLIE'S POPULAR MONTHLY. The contents of May number are as usual, extremely varied, and in a literary and artistic point of view, in its comprehensiveness and cheapness, this magazine is far ahead of its contemporaries. Among the notable articles are: "Russia's Latest Annexation—Merv," "The Origin of New York Churches," "The Adventures of Bold Alonzo de Ojeda," "Moor and the Moor," "Lady Blanche Murray," "Etta W. Pierce, Harry Moss, Fanny Driscoll, Annie Thomas and others, contribute delightful serials, short stories, adventures, etc. and the poems are by Charles Mackay, Wade Robinson, R. H. Shepherd, etc. Prof. W. F. Barrett, has an admirable article entitled "Geyser," with eleven fine illustrations. The miscellany is large, most interesting and instructive. There are 128 quarto pages, more than 100 illustrations, and a beautiful colored-plate frontispiece, "By the Sea Side Waves." 25 cents a copy, $250 a year, postpaid. Mrs. Frank Leslie, publisher, 53, 55, and 57 Park Place, New York.

THE NEWEST LETTER OF A CHRONIC RAMBLER.

THE ECLECTIC MAGAZINE. In the May number of the Eclectic Magazine we find the usual amount of good reading. The opening article—Frederick Harrison's "The Ghost of Religion," is a mingled criticism and eulogy of Herbert Spencer's article published in the last number of this magazine. An article on "Chinese Gordon," from "All the Year Round," will be read with deep interest. The paper on "Platford Woman," from the Nineteenth Century, is a strong argument, from the purely feminine standpoint, against the new agitation. "Stepniak," who writes on "Terrorism in Russia and Terrorism in Europe," is one of the leading mouthpieces of the Nihilists. The biographical essay by T. H. S. Es- cest on "Mr. Hayward" is a description of a very remarkable man by one that knew him well. All Americans will be interested, perhaps scandalized, by the bitter diatribe of Sir Lepel Griffin, entitled "The Harvest of Democracy," which supplements the one previously published in the Eclectic, called "Philistia." Others papers to which special attention may be directed are: "The Milk in the Goo-nut," from Corn-Ad; "The Literature of Introspection," from Macmillan's; and "About
